DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see the appeal brief, filed 21 March 2008, with respect to the rejection of claims 21-25, 29, 30, and 39-41 under 35 U.S.C. 102 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground of rejection is made in view of Weber et al. and Abele et al. as set forth below.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. The indicated allowability of claim 41 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered references to Weber et al. and Abele et al. Rejections based on the newly cited references follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 21-25, 29, 30, and 39-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weber et al. (5,759,172) in view of Abele et al. (6,010,480).

Weber reference discloses a medical balloon with a plurality of structures when in the contracted condition (see figure 4). The balloon has at least three structures and are T-shaped (see figure 3). The structures can overlap at least slightly when contracted (see figure 5). Each structure has a base made of a double layer of balloon and a wing extends in each direction from the base. However, Weber reference does not disclose the structures maintain the T-shaped wings in the contracted or folded condition.

Attention is drawn to Abele reference, which teaches a suitable balloon folding alternative where the fold can have a structure with a base and wings extending in opposite directions from the base (see figure 2). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to fold the balloon structures of Weber reference in the manner taught by Abele reference (i.e. T-shaped structures with oppositely extending wings) because it appears both folding methods would perform equally well and one of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized that a balloon can be folded in more than one way.
